AWARD RULES:

- I. The Parker, Smith & Feek “Excellence in Construction” Awards Program is open to all general contractor, specialty contractor and associate firms who are members in good standing with the Associated General Contractors of Alaska. Contest rules allow only one submittal per company or individual for each category. The same project cannot be submitted in more than one category with the exception of the Sustainability in Construction Award category.
- II. Only projects completed, or substantially completed, in Alaska by an Alaska AGC member from September 30, 2022 to September 20, 2023, are eligible to compete in the Awards Program. Portions of projects (i.e. “packages”) should not be submitted unless they are standalone bids/projects. Call the AGC office if you need assistance or seek advice with the project submission or eligibility questions.
- III. Awards will be presented in the above categories based on submissions given to a panel of independent judges consisting of individuals with extensive construction background and no affiliations with contractors submitting awards. There will be one winner per category.
- IV. Each entry or nomination must be on the official form or a photocopy thereof. All entries/nominations must be received by AGC of Alaska, no later than end of business day on Wednesday, September 20, 2023. NO EXTENSIONS WILL BE GRANTED FOR ANY REASON. Each submitting member is responsible for the costs associated with their entry.

2023 Parker, Smith & Feek “Excellence in Construction” Awards

- V. Award winners will be announced at the Parker, Smith & Feek “Excellence in Construction” awards during the AGC Conference on November 10, 2023.
- VI. The Sustainability in Construction Award is an award open to anyone involved with construction or related technical projects who is an AGC of Alaska member—architects, planners, engineers, or project owners and will be awarded to the AGC of Alaska member that went above-and-beyond normal practices to have a positive impact on the environment.
- VII. Winners in each category will receive awards recognizing their significant achievement. There is no promise, either expressed or implied, of publicity for winners, although AGC of Alaska intends to take all reasonable steps to secure such publicity in the media.
- VII. AGC of Alaska shall have the right to use those entries or any portion thereof for promotional purposes in connection with the Parker, Smith & Feek “Excellence in Construction” Awards Program or any other AGC of Alaska purpose without financial compensation to the finalists and winning entrants. You are responsible for assuring that you submit information which you have the reproduction rights. Do not submit materials that will infringe on copyrights if reproduced.
- VIII. Neither AGC of AK, its members or staff, Parker, Smith & Feek, nor the judges for the Parker, Smith & Feek “Excellence in Construction” Awards Program, assume or accept any liability for any error or omission or claim rising from the awards program, including, but not limited to, loss or damage to entries by the Postal Service or other means of transmittal, loss or damage in transit or storage, misinterpretation by members of the business advantage or any consequential damage as a result of any of the foregoing.
- IX. Entries not in compliance with these rules, as determined by the Awards Sub-Committee of the Annual Conference Committee in its sole discretion, may not be considered. All decisions of the Awards Committee and/or judges are final.
- X. We strongly urge companies to consider submitting projects to the AGC of America “Build America” awards.
